We're kicking off Friday with a new installment in our World's Principled Leaders series — talking to Lisa P. Jackson, who runs Apple's ESP efforts after leading the EPA under Obama. Join at 9 am.

- She'll share how she uses her leadership and expertise to tackle inequality and create opportunities so every American has an equal shot at success.

Then we've got two Backpack to Briefcase sessions that will guide you into the workforce: Cover Letters 101 with Erica Wallace and Developing Professional Mentors with Chris Bingham.

- Erica, Talent Acquisitions Manager for Strata Fund Solutions, will dive into how you can help your application stand out. Join at 9 am.
- Chris, VP of Global Marketing and Strategy for Advanced Bionics, is talking about how to develop professional mentors. Join at noon.

Don't miss Professor Corcoran's chat with Derek White, VP of Global Financial Services at Google and Utah State alum. Join at 10:30 am.

- Derek is discussing his unique career path, the importance of "finding your magic," and more.

2. Monday evening events

Viktor Frankl's 1946 memoir of his experience as a prisoner in a Nazi concentration camp has been called one of the "10 most influential books in America," and it's the subject of the CLF Book Club's discussion this Thursday.

- The 7 pm session is open to all.
- Come gain leadership insights whether you've read the book or not!

1 club thing: Join us at IMA

The Institute of Management Accountants is an excellent resource if you're interested in a managerial accounting career.

- Why it matters: The group opens up lots of opportunities for learning, networking, internships and scholarships.

If you're interested, join our session with Eric Shipley, SVP and CFO at Inovar, on March 18 at 7 pm. Or explore all our student clubs to see what else is out there.

That's all from us this week.

- Until next time, stay up to date on USU's COVID-19 updates.
